Mansfield Project Heads $37,000,000 OPS Program

SUB-STATION FIRST ON LIST FOR EXPANSION

Company Also Earmarks Part of $20,000,000 Fund For Plant Here.

The $425,000 Ohio Public Service company sub-station in Mansfield, expected to be completed by Jan. 1, is one of the first projects in a $37,000,000, five-year construction program announced yesterday by R. E. Burger, president of the company.

He said improvements to generating plants at Mansfield, Marion and Warren, and additions to generating stations at Lorain and Bellaire would cost approximately $20,000,000.

Joy A. Herbert, manager of the Mansfield office, who returned from Cleveland today, said he did not know as yet what proportion of the $20,000,000 would be spent here.

125 Hear Address.

Approximately 125 employes of the Mansfield branch attended a 25th anniversary program of OPS in Cleveland yesterday, where they heard Burger announce the expansion program.

R. D. Iden, distribution superintendent of the Mansfield office, said the new sub-station, located on the Olivesburg road, will have a capacity of 33,333 kilowatts.

It will receive power at 138,000 volts from the company's transmission system for transformer reduction to 23,000 volts. Iden said the sub-station will increase the power capacity available to the Mansfield area.

He also announced that "several hundred thousand dollars additionally" will be spent in the Mansfield area in connection with the five-year program.

The funds will be expended to provide other sub-stations, new transmission lines, improvement of underground cables and modernization of the public street lighting system here.

YOUTHS DEFLATE 27 AUTO TIRES

One Mansfielder Fined $50; Companion Escapes.

An 18-year-old boy, charged with letting air out of 27 tires on automobiles parked near the Coliseum last night, was fined $50 and costs and received a 30-day suspended jail sentence in municipal court today.

The youth, Leo E. Varian, 170 East Second street, was captured by Officer Donald Freehafer after a struggle near the Coliseum. A companion, who has not been identified, escaped.

Officer Freehafer said Varian was caught while tampering with the tire of a parked car. He said 16 other cars in the area had flat tires.

Court testimony disclosed that nine cars had one flat, seven had two flats and one had four flats. Valves were destroyed in 19 tires, police said.

Officer Freehafer was a member of the special six-man squad of plainclothes men appointed by Chief of Police Meade K. Bates several weeks ago to combat vandalism in the city.

Puts Up Battle.

Varian "put up quite a battle" when captured, Officer Freehafer said. He added that when he was telephoning headquarters from a nearby residence after capturing Varian, the youth again made an unsuccessful attempt to escape.

Deep Sea Blast Damages Town

COPENHAGEN — (INS) — The town of Aarhus displayed smashed chimney's roofs and windows today after 20 thousand tons of German ammunition were touched off by a magnetic mine. There were no reported casualties.

The explosives had been sunk in deep water off the coast of Jutland. A small steamer reportedly activated the mine which, in turn, exploded the ammunition.

Mine Boss Gives Krug His Orders

WASHINGTON — (AP) — John L. Lewis stepped up the tempo of his attack for fresh wage concessions from the federally operated soft coal industry today, whipping out a sharp new ultimatum to Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug.

In typically crisp sentences, Lewis told Krug to meet him in Washington on Nov. 1—and no later—or face a walkout by Lewis' 400,000 soft coal miners 20 days earlier than the Nov. 20 deadine set previously.

The 66-year-old boss of the AFL United Mine Workers Union thus underscored his demand that Krug reopen the whole question of wages, hours and other matters involved in the Lewis-Krug agreement which followed the government's seizure of the pits last May 22.

LEWIS

Meanwhile, labor experts looked for possible repercussions from this pre-winter controversy which could affect Pennsylvania's 75,000 hard coal miners. Almost the entire hard coal output goes into heating homes and buildings.

If Lewis is successful in his demand for renewing wage negotiations for soft coal miners, similar demands may be expected of the hard-coal producers — and Lewis can open his hard coal contract on 10 days' notice.

The hard-coal producers signed an agreement with Lewis last June almost paralleling the Krug-Lewis contract for the soft coal miners.

Lewis yesterday toughened the terms of his challenge to the government on the grounds of alleged "breach of contract."

KRUG

Krug, off on an extended tour through the southwest, said Lewis could meet him at Tula Lake, Calif., if the UMW chief insisted on a conference November 1. Otherwise, Krug said his engagements, arranged weeks ago, would prevent him from returning to Washington until after Nov. 6.

To that proposal, Lewis had a fast answer:

"The existing Krug-Lewis agreement expressly provides that both parties to the agreement are bound to meet within a 10-day period upon formal request."

Such a formal request, he said in a telegram to Krug, was filed Monday. And then the ultimatum:

"Failure on your part to honor this (November) meeting will constitute another breach of contract and will void the Krug-Lewis agreement."

SAFETY MEET

Regional Conference Hears Kearns at Luncheon.

The Mansfield Second Regional Safety conference opened this morning in the Mansfield-Leland hotel. The meeting is sponsored by the division of safety and hygiene, Industrial Commission of Ohio, in cooperation with the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce safety council.

Conferences on state compensation information and home, school and traffic problems were held under the direction of Robert Myers of the Westinghouse Electric corporation and Frend C. Boals, Mansfield traffic commissioner.

Thomas P. Kearns, past superintendent of the safety and hygiene division, was the principal speaker scheduled for a 12:15 p. m. luncheon.

ESCAPES ON HORSE

LANCASTER—(AP)—A 12-year-old boy from Dayton, O., escaped from the State Boys' Industrial school by riding away on a horse he took from one of the barns at the institution. After a five-hour search B. I. S. officers recaptured the boy and horse on a hilly road near the school.

FUND WORKERS NEED $12,899 TO MEET GOAL

Industrial Division Lags as Campaign Goes Into Final Day.

Goal	$94,067
Raised	$81,168
Needed	$12,899

Only a few hours and $12,899 today stood between Mansfield Community Fund workers and their goal of $94,067. The campaign ends at 9 p. m. today.

Despite efforts of workers and campaign leaders, the greatest lag was reported in the industrial division. Uptown divisions topped their quota of $82,430 by turning in $83,862.

Industry boosted its total to $47,306 with a $12,664 report at noon, leaving $15,579 to be collected by the deadline. Don G. Ogden and Howard Richards, co-chairmen of the division, indicated that $2,000 more might be added by tonight, but were doubtful if the division would make up the remaining $13,000.

Go Over Quotas.

Education and financial divisions in the uptown group boosted the "over-the-top" groups to five today. Education, headed by Co-chairmen Msgr. R. C. Goebel and Supt. W. L. Miller, turned in $2,084, $286 more than the goal. Dwight P. Smith, chairman of the financial group, reported $4,348, or $308 above the quota.

Meanwhile, W. E. Slabaugh, jr., general chairman of the drive, urged all workers to call for their cards before 9 tonight and to report to the Community Fund office in the Walpark building at that time.

Division nearest its goal in the uptown division at noon was food, headed by Dean Dickerson, who predicted that the division would be over its quota by tonight. Receipts of the food division at noon were $3,092. Goal is $3,850.

Boost Goal Again.

Leading division in the uptown group again today was the women's group, led by Mrs. Louis P. Jisa, who reported that workers had exceeded an additional goal of $6,500 by $134. Mrs. Jisa said that workers were now trying for $7,000. The original quota was $5,450.

Other divisions and their totals are: auto, $581; construction, $2,966; professions, $4,594; public employes, $1,225; public service, $2,554; retail $5,782.

Additional industrials in the city which either met or exceeded their quotas were: North American Knitting Mills, met quota of $590; Ohio Brass company, $362 over $7,000 quota; Barnes Manufacturing company, $10 over $1,740 quota; Pryor Manufacturing company, met quota of $100; Perfection Bed Spring company, $1 over quota of $120.

Landlords Back 'Lockup' Strike

SEATTLE — (U.P.) — A proposed landlords' strike against OPA ceilings on rent threatened to spread to three other Pacific northwest cities today despite protests of homeless war veterans.

The threat of landlords in this teeming port city of 500,000 to lock the doors of any apartments vacated by present tenants until granted rent relief was immediately attacked by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Sugar Shortage Hits Bubble Gum Shoppers

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Time was when a four-year-old could beg a milk bottle from his mother and exchange it for a sack of candy or a pack of gum from the neighborhood grocer's fabulous show case.

But times have changed!

Pre-schoolers' penny shopping has been hit as hard as Mother's. The sugar shortage has brought an acute scarcity of delicacies like bubble gum, suckers and other sweets. And, in some cases, the scarcity has hiked prices.

So what have the kids done? They've taken their cues from their parents' shopping habits. They keep an eye on the latest shipments at the grocery, and candy and gum go home in fists and pockets as fast as they arrive.

In one instance, a first grader took no chances on the grocer being sold out by the time school closed in the afternoon. She asked to have a penny's worth of merchandise "laid back" until she could get the penny at 3:30.

Mansfield grocers, who maintain a corner for their younger customers, reported that bubble gum, long a cherished item among the small fry, has virtually disappeared from

SUGAR SCARCE

Officials Describe Shortage Most Acute in History.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Government officials today confirmed some of the housewife's worst suspicions about the current retail sugar shortage.

They said the scarcity is the most acute in history—worse even than during the war—and that there's little chance of relief until the shipping industry can shake off effects of the maritime strike.

Even then, they said, it will take from three weeks to a month for imports of raw sugar to regain pre-strike volume and for sugar to start reappearing on retail shelves.

Shoppers Find Prices Remain High Despite Predictions of a Decline

When they add up their grocery bills this weekend, Mansfield housewives will find they are paying as much for meats and other food items as they were two weeks ago, despite predictions that prices would drop because of buyer pressure.

And many grocers admit now that they can see no immediate prospect of lower prices.

Other household articles offer a problem for the shopper, too. It takes a persistent housewife to find toilet and laundry soap and toilet tissue. Shortening is another item that's missing from grocers' shelves.

No grocer questioned in a News-Journal survey reported any shortening in stock. Some said they get small shipments of toilet tissue and soap in every "three weeks or so." One grocer said he hadn't had a shipment of either for six weeks.

Here's what the survey showed:

MEAT: Hamburger, 45 cents a pound; ground beef, from 60 to 65 cents a pound; chuck roast, 50 to 65 cents, round steak, 80 to 85 cents; sirloin steak, 90 to 95 cents.

CHICKEN: 67 to 75 cents retail at groceries; 55 cents a pound wholesale and 63 cents retail at produce markets.

EGGS: 60 to 75 cents a dozen, depending on size.

BUTTER: 86 to 95 cents a pound.

Only ray of hope in the soap situation, as seen by Mansfield grocers, was the lifting of all restrictions on the use of fats and oils by the agriculture department. The action followed OPA's decision last week removing price controls on edible fats and oils.

On the heels of the restriction removal, the OPA soap industry advisory committee asked for decontrol if price ceilings on inedible fats and oils are removed.

TYGERS' BAND GOES TO TOLEDO

Mansfield Tire Plans Special Train For 500.

Mansfield Senior high school's crack marching band will make its second out-of-town appearance a week from Friday when the Tyger football club plays Toledo Waite in Toledo.

The Senior high musicians will be guests of Mansfield Tire and Rubber company on a special train which will take 500 rooters to Toledo.

In announcing the company's plan for the special train going to Toledo, G. W. Stephens, president and general manager, said:

"All Mansfield is proud of this fine musical organization. We are glad that our plan of running a special football train also affords us this opportunity to take the band along as a token of our appreciation for what it has done for Mansfield."

Howard L. Kochheiser, club president, said the Senior high band parents' club will furnish chaperons for the Tyger musicians.

Mansfield Tire's 25-year club and the company athletic commission are co-sponsors of the special train. C. W. Schafer is president of the 25-year club and John H. Hoffman is chairman of the athletic commission.

The train, leaving Mansfield at 5 p. m., will be met in Toledo by special buses which will take the delegation to the Waite stadium.

Employes of Mansfield Tire and their guests will make up the party. Company officials announced today that there is a waiting list of employes desiring to make the trip.

Historians Solve 400-Year Riddle

CUZCO, Peru — (U.P.) — Puzzled historians today have the answer to a riddle that has baffled them for more than 400 years.

An elaborate search of several secret crypts in La Merced church has revealed the remains of three famous Spanish Conquistadores. They were Diego Almagro the elder, discoverer of Chile and co-discoverer of Peru; Diego Almagro the younger, his son, and Gonzalo Pizarro, half-brother of the notorious Francisco Pizarro, conqueror of Peru.

Panic Sweeps 1,500 Riders

CHICAGO—(AP)—Nearly 270 persons bound for work were injured today, about 10 seriously, when an elevated express train rammed the rear of another during heavy fog.

The crash occurred during the morning rush hour at the 47th street station on the south side. Both trains were derailed but were in no danger of falling to the street.

Fifteen hundred passengers were on the two trains. Police reported many of them crowded the station platform, delaying removal of the injured.

So jammed with milling, panic-stricken passengers was the platform and its stairway that firemen used hook and ladder equipment to climb the structure.

Ray Darling, a conductor of the forward train, said the train had left its previous stop four blocks away ten minutes late and that it had stopped to pick up passengers at the 47th street station when the crash occurred.

Every available south side ambulance rushed victims to eight hospitals.

At least 100 other passengers received first aid treatment for minor cuts at the scene.

Motorman Blinded.

Capt. John Ryan of Warren avenue police said that the motorman of the second train, who was seriously injured, was "undoubtedly" blinded by the dense fog which lay over most of the Chicago area this morning.

The motorman was George Petraites, about 30, Chicago. His right leg was crushed and firemen worked 15 minutes to extricate him from the cab.

Forrest Franks, conductor on the second train, and Louis J. Nesvig, motorman on the forward train, both reported that the rush hour crowding of passengers prevented more being injured. Nesvig said the cars were so packed that few people fell.

A strike of Chicago Motor Coach company bus drivers has diverted many bus riders to elevated trains.

U. N. BEGINS WORLD PARLEY

Truman Welcomes Delegates of 51 Nations at First Session Today.

NEW YORK —(AP)— With permanent peace as their goal and the split between America and Russia as their foremost worry, the delegates of 51 United Nations gathered today to hear President Truman open their first great assembly on American soil.

By plane, train and ship they have been arriving in this new "world capital" all week. Mr. Truman, with a 2,600-word speech in his brief case, was due in during the afternoon. Secretary of State Byrnes preceded him last night.

In the midst of the color and the confident welcoming speeches, most delegates privately expressed their concern over the tensions existing between the United States and Russia. Every major issue was being examined in that light—in the American delegation as well as in other official groups here.

Against that background Mr. Truman had to speak and it was generally expected he would take the opportunity to support and emphasize the "patient but firm" foreign policy toward Russia laid down by Byrnes in his report to the nation last Friday on the Paris peace conference.

Mr. Truman was due at La-Guardia airfield from Washington about 3:40 p. m. (EST)—only 20 minutes before the scheduled opening of the general assembly in its shiny new—but perhaps temporary home—on New York's 1939 world's fair grounds.

Foreign Minister Paul Henry Spaak of Belgium, assembly president, was slated to bring the session to order at 4 p. m.

New York officially was holding out the glad hand in the grand manner. It would like, officially, to have the United Nations settle down on the rolling green acres at the Flushing fair grounds. The permanent site problem, however, is one of the big issues ahead.

Headquarters are supposed to be established in Westchester county by a previous decision of the assembly at London. Many people of Westchester do not want homes and businesses displaced, however, and San Francisco has a special delegation here seeking to switch the "world capital" to the west coast.

250 Expected At Merchants' Annual Dinner

Approximately 250 members are expected to attend the annual dinner meeting of the Mansfield Retail Merchants' association on Nov. 6, V. H. Lodde, secretary-manager, said today.

Ralph W. Carney, vice president and sales manager of the Coleman Lamp & Stove company, Wichita, Kans., will be the principal speaker at the meeting in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The program also will include election of trustees and a brief business session, Carl O. Russell, president, said.

Carney is one of the country's "top flight speakers and sales managers," Russell said. He will speak on the subject, "The Man Who Sells."

The banquet has been arranged by a committee of which W. L. Faulkner is chairman, and Sam Campbell, Ed Sutter, Bart Earick, Jim Seymour, R. A. Pollitte, Frank Bunsey, Carlton Fernyak, William Clay and Von Davis are members.

HOPPERS EAT SEED

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The grasshoppers ate up most of the alfalfa seed in Ohio this year. As a result, production is forecast at 1,200 bushels of thresher-run seed compared with 6,900 bushels in 1945, the Ohio Cooperative Crop Reporting service said today.

KANSAS CITY —(AP)—William G. Carlin, 20-year-old Coatesville, Pa., youth, yesterday was awarded the "Star Farmer of America" award at the Victory convention of the Future Farmers of America.

FIRE KILLS 10

Mother, 8 Children, Infant Granddaughter Perish.

A mother, Mrs. Edward Nelson, 46, her eight children and her infant granddaughter perished today in the fire which swept through their Lake Pocotopaug home.

The only occupant of the one-family, cinder block house to escape was Edward Clark 19. He fled through a window and suffered superficial burns and cuts.

The fire apparently started in a room heated by an oil burner, state police said. Six of the bodies, five adults and the infant, were found clustered around a doorway leading from a bedroom, police said, while the bodies of the younger children were found in two bedrooms.

Vet Finds U. S. Mayor Obdurate

NEW COMERSTOWN—(INS)—A 24-year-old Canton veteran who talked the mayor of Breckenheim into surrendering his town during the Yanks push across Germany learned today that American mayors are not swayed so easily.

The ex-GI, James Maneilly, was bound over to the Tuscarawas county grand jury under $5,000 after pleading guilty to a charge of auto stealing by New Comerstown Mayor Ellis Bartholow.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK — The political heirs to the mischief known as the New Deal and advertised as the Roosevelt program have been calling all this a bloodless revolution and a reformation. The opposition has been intimidated by the clamor of this propaganda.

Until now, few Republicans have had the intelligence and the strength of character and purpose to condemn the New Deal as a monstrosity which mocks the basic principles of the American way laid down in the Constitution. Opportunists among the Republicans have endorsed the Wagner act, for example, for the same reasons that politicians of the generation just before accepted prohibition. In both cases the thought was that these evils had become permanent and that any candidate who fought them simply threw away his chances in a futile stand for a moral issue.

Actually, the New Deal was not a reform but a debauch. It imposed on the nation a violation of the American principle of justice in granting the labor relations board power to instigate complaints against defendant employers by unions which are actually clients of the board (having first created fictitious "incidents" as the basis of these complaints) and then to prosecute the defendants and impose sentence on them, all this subject to no appeal.

IT IS CALLED a quasi-judicial body when it is actually a kangaroo court. In American justice it is unthinkable that a court should represent the plaintiff and sit in judgment on the defendant. For much less than that, although the issue was similar, Justice Jackson of the supreme court publicly attacked Justice Black on a flat charge of unethical conduct.

A lawyer who could be found guilty of provoking an "incident" against the interests of his client so that he could then bring the case to court for redress would be disbarred and branded a shyster. The congressional investigation conducted by Howard Smith, of Virginia, showed that this was ordinary practice in the labor relations board under the Wagner act whose purpose was fraudulently stated to be to minimize labor disputes and thus to promote interstate commerce. Senator Wagner, having been a Tammany machine judge in New York in Tammany's worst days, is supposed to be a lawyer. His quality as such may be judged by his promotion of this violation of the spirit of American justice and of the ethics of his profession.

WHILE THE RIGHT of appeal does not exist, the defendant may be granted appeal to the supreme court as a privilege if the court does not feel too busy or tired to hear the case. Usually the court denies the right of appeal and the defendant is punished. Actually, every judgment of the labor relations board should be appealable, and all of them should be not merely reversed but utterly repudiated, because the board doesn't even pretend to be impartial.

The Smith committee showed that it had selected its own agents only when it was completely satisfied that they were devoted to the union movement and, in some cases to communism, and fiercely hostile to all employers as such. It showed that Roosevelt had appointed two notorious Communists to key positions in the original board.

The fanatical temper of the board and some of its Hitlerian practices such as entrapment of defendants, another vice absolutely forbidden under American justice, were modified, perforce, after the Smith committee's expose, but only perforce. Roosevelt was loath to do this, but for political reasons, and not for any consideration of the damage wrought to American justice, he had to.

The board was deloused to some extent, but the inherent wickedness of Wagner's law has never been touched. Defendants still must submit to the caprice and prejudice of the board. Although Congressman Smith here performed a good service for the benefit of every American who must look to impartial courts for justice and protection against entrapment, the New Deal loudly abused him as an enemy of labor It set up a union candidate in Arlington.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — When a fellow takes his wife along to Paris, she goes shopping on the Rue de la Paix. She spends more money than she intended. She is aghast. What to do?

One thing is to soften the blow by giving the old man a necktie de luxe with spots on it. This is known as putting him in the mood. If he succumbs, he's stuck with a Frenchified cravat. If he's any diplomat, he wears it. At least on cloudy days.

What I'm getting at is the doggondest necktie ever to circle the neck of a South Carolinian. Now setting off the profile of our secretary of state, Jimmy Byrnes. Mrs. Byrnes went with him to Paris. She bought this tie. She must have.

His Parisian neck dazzler is blue silk of a shade the French call electrique. When the sun shines on it, there is a short circuit, which strikes sparks. Magnifique.

What happens during foggy weather? The wily haberdasher solved that one, too. Upon the beautiful blue, he superimposed yellow streaks the shade of oleomargarine with a smidgen too much dye worked in.

THE SECRETARY of state wore this cravat on his first public appearance since returning from France. He took it with him then to the United Nations meet in New York and he made no apologies for it. This proved that he was a diplomat, or an experienced husband, or both.

The movie fellow's spotlights made the secretary's eyeglasses glisten when he walked into his press conference. Apart from that tie, he was the same old Jimmy. No French accent. Wearing the same old double-breasted blue serge. Answering all questions. And looking tired.

His cheeks were pink and his eyebrows were as expressive as ever, but beneath his peepers (visible when he removed his glasses) was a pair of suitcases. I bet your eyes would look puffy, too, if you'd argued as long as he had over the peace. And tried to sleep for weeks at the Hotel Meurice, across the street from the Tuileries. Trouble with those French hotels is their mattresses. No inner springs.

SO A DIPLOMAT correspondent wondered aloud (and as diplomatically as possible) whether it was true that Byrnes would resign on doctor's orders within 90 days. The secretary smiled wearily. He said he guessed he'd have to look up the sawbones and report that this morning he felt pretty good.

Most of the questions and answers sounded complicated and I don't know for sure whether Byrnes was being sarcastic when asked about our policy on loans to nations which felt we were trying to enslave them economically.

The United States has no desire to enslave anyone by lending him money, Byrnes said. Then he excused himself. He had to go to New York. Where Mrs. Byrnes may discover neckties nearly as magnificent as those in Paris.

YEAR-ROUND RECREATION AIM OF LEVY

Program Would Operate Under Full-Time Director.

Year around recreation for all Mansfield is the hope of sponsors of the two-tenths mill recreation levy which goes before voters in the city Nov. 5.

The recreation commission, in outlining today provisions of the proposal, made it clear that winter as well as summer activities would be a definite part of the program.

If approved by the voters, the levy would provide approximately $12,000 for each of the next five years. This would permit appointment of a full-time, trained director of recreation, who would be responsible for the year-round program of recreation for all, with particular emphasis on the summer playgrounds, youth centers for teen-agers and community events for adults.

The money raised by the levy would be administered by the recreation commission appointed by the mayor. As set up by special charter, the commission consists of five members appointed for terms of three years each. Two of the commission members also would be members of the Mansfield board of education.

The job of the commission would be to provide and coordinate through the department of recreation an adequate recreation program for every age group regardless of race or creed.

The program would not interfere with agencies already sponsoring recreation programs, according to the commission. Rather, it would cooperate with and assist those agencies in their programs.

Use Existing Facilities.

The levy would provide a program using existing facilities such as parks, school grounds, school buildings and park playgrounds. Maintenance of the present equipment on playgrounds and such additions as can be afforded by the budget, would be provided from the money raised by the levy.

For the last several years Mansfield has had no supervised program for her playgrounds. The levy would make it possible to employ playground supervisors and a well-rounded program for playgrounds in all parts of the city during the summer months.

Winter sports and activities would include supervision and promotion of basketball, touch football, volley ball, badminton, winter recreation centers, boxing, wrestling, dramatics, music, art, skating, Halloween celebrations, card tournaments and community events.

ASKS TRIAL BY THREE JUDGES

Galionite, Charged With Rape, Waives Hearing By Jury.

Attorneys for Ellsworth Moyer of Galion, indicted by the Richland county grand jury on a charge of rape without consent of a 13-year-old girl, today filed a waiver of trial by jury and requested Moyer be tried by a panel of three judges

The attorneys, George W. Biddle of Mansfield and George W Coble of Galion, took the action under the provisions of a relatively new Ohio law, believed never to have been used in Richland county.

The law, passed in 1943, allows for waiver of the jury and trial before three judges in cases of alleged crime of less than murder or "capital offense" degree.

The trial has been scheduled for Monday morning, but Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch said it may be postponed until Nov. 4 because of the anticipated delay in securing assignment of two other common pleas judges by the supreme justice of Ohio.

State Protection of Fire Apparatus Sought by City

Council last night authorized Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow to seek state protection of the city's fire equipment if it is used to fight fires at Mansfield reformatory.

A proposed contract between the city and state provides for protection of injured firemen but includes no equipment protection clause.

The state further wants the city to provide a regular fire inspection program for the reformatory and train volunteer fire fighters there.

Fire Chief L. J. Steele told councilmen, however, that he did not favor the inspection plan because the state, in the past, has ignored his recommendations concerning unsafe rest homes.

If a contract agreement is reached, the state would pay the city $100 a year for "stand by" protection and $50 for each piece of apparatus used at each fire.

A request by the city park commission for an additional $11,000 appropriation to pay for damages to city parks during spring floods was pared to $4,000 by council and approved.

Legislation authorizing a sanitary sewer for Reform street was approved, as well as that which boosted by $120 a year the automobile allowance granted to the city's investigator of indigent hospital cases. In addition, a $61.31 wage claim filed by Matthew Herf, a water department employe, was ordered paid, boosting his pay scale to that of a Class A laborer.

N-J Announces Two Promotions

Two promotions in the News-Journal editorial department were announced today by Editor G. J. Kochenderfer. D. K. Woodman was named executive editor and W. C. Peterson managing editor.

Peterson came to Mansfield recently from the Columbus, Ga., Ledger. He lives with his family at 611 Scholl road.

Other editorial positions remain unchanged with Virgil A. Stanfield as city editor and Malcolm Hartley as telegraph editor.

HOLD RALLY AT FIRST LUTHERAN

Area Pastors to Hear Buffalo Minister Sunday.

REV. RALPH W. LOEW

Rev. Ralph W. Loew, pastor of Holy Lutheran church, Buffalo, N. Y., will be the speaker for the 13th annual Union Reformation rally which will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at the First Lutheran church. The United Lutheran Pastors' association of the Mansfield area is sponsoring the service to which Protestant congregations in Richland, Ashland, and a portion of Wayne counties are invited.

The Senior high school a capella choir, comprised of 133 voices under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr, will sing.

Rev. Olan Aughbaugh, associate pastor at First church and Dr. Harold H. Lentz, pastor at Ashland and president of the association, will be in charge of the service.

Young people from the Lutheran congregations in the Mansfield area will meet at 6 p. m., in the church parlors for a devotional service. Rev. Loew will address the group.

Rev. Loew, a native of Columbus and a graduate of Capitol university, is president of the Buffalo Ministerial association and chairman of the Christian Education department of the Federal Council of Churches.

A graduate of Hamma Divinity School, Springfield, Rev. Loew has done post-graduate work at Ohio State university and Union Theological seminary, New York City. He served for six years as pastor of the Millersburg Lutheran parish. While in Washington, D. C., as co-pastor at the Lutheran church of the Reformation for seven years, he was a leader in inter-church activities. He served also as the co-editor of the Washington page to the weekly church paper, The Lutheran.

Sunday night Rev. Loew will speak on "New Hammer Blows on Old Doors."

FUND TRANSFER DUE FOR ACTION

Court Schedules Hearing on Request For ADC Money.

Whether or not the county's aid to dependent children program will receive additional money for the balance of the year from the public utilities excise tax fund was before Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch for decision this afternoon.

Faced with a depleted treasury, ADC officials asked the county commissioners several week ago to transfer $7,000 from the utilities tax fund and the commissioners replied they would if such action is approved by the common pleas court.

The ADC program ran into financial trouble last July when officials reported a 40 per cent slash in benefit payments to some 250 children would have to be made unless additional money was obtained.

Probate Judge S. H. Cramer, administrator of the program, ordered full benefit payments maintained and asked the commissioners for additional funds so that undiminished aid could be supplied to the ADC recipients during the balance of the year.

The commissioners' request for a court approval is being handled by Prosecutor Theodore Lutz, as the commissioners' legal adviser. He has already obtained a conditional approval of the proposed transfer of money from the state board of tax appeals.

68 OK LEVY

Endorsements of School Proposal Growing.

Sixty-eight endorsements of the three-mill tax levy to increase teachers' and other school employes' salaries, have been received, Dr. Edwin A. Fensch, director of research in the public schools, announced today.

Latest organizations to pledge support to the levy campaign are Liberty Park and Civic association, Buckeye Garden club, United Rubber Workers Local 17, and North Lake park association.

The levy will come before voters at the Nov. 5 election.

Up and Down The Street

MORE THAN APPLES—

That little school levy campaign folder, entitled "An Apple Isn't Enough," is attracting a lot of attention in Mansfield and elsewhere in Ohio where levies will be offered at the Nov. 5 election Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller says one or two other Ohio cities have asked permission to use the idea in their campaigns, and B. I. Griffith, public relations director of the Ohio Education association has described it as the "best publicity I've seen used in a campaign." The little folder, printed in red ink, starts out this way: "Apples are all very well in their way—in school, to express the liking of a pupil for the teacher. But teachers can't live on apples and admiration."

PEACE THEORIES—

An assault and battery case heard today in municipal court takes on a slightly different hue when considered against the background of the opening of the United Nations general assembly—also taking place today—in New York. Said the defendant, accused of punching another man in the face: "he deserved it; and how else was I to settle the argument?" Answered Judge H. H. Schettler: "Suppose everyone settled issues by slapping each other in the face—the world would be in a fine mess." Countered the defendant: "Well, we just finished a world-wide mess by 'slapping each other in the face'." The judge agreed but pointed out that "we're supposed to be civilized; that's why we have wars because the nations, in their relations with other nations, are not yet civilized." The defendant was fined $10 and costs; given a 10-day suspended jail sentence.

A photographic study of two dogs, entitled "Sissy and Taffy," won first prize last night for Loren Sauerbrun, 77 East Second street, at the semi-annual salon of the Mansfield Photographic society.

Second prize went to John Smucker, 45 North Mulberry street, for his photograph, "Winter Wonderland," a snow scene.

A photograph by Joe Donahue, 195 West Third street, entitled "Melting Pot," carried third prize honors. The picture was a steel mill study.

Fourth prize was awarded to Al Gerberich, 209½ Park avenue east, for his "Sue," and fifth prize was won by Victor Day, 35 North Franklin street, with an entry entitled "Saucy."

Guy Hamilton, vice president of the society, said more than 75 entries competed for top honors at the salon, held in the club rooms at the Farmers Bank building.

The prize winners will be on display at the Perez studio, Third and Mulberry streets, until next Wednesday.

COUNCIL ACTS TO BACK PLAN FOR RESERVE

$300,000 Program Contingent on Cooperative Agreement With National Guard.

City councilmen today were agreed to let the navy build an armory on Ashland road—if a cooperative program can be worked out with the National Guard for joint use of drill ground facilities.

The navy wants to activate a 200-man reserve division here and erect a $300,000 armory to train the men. It wants to build the armory on Ashland road on city-owned property adjoining that of the guard.

Appearing at a special council meeting last night, Charles Condon, a captain in Mansfield's National Guard Company M, sought assurance that construction of a naval armory won't deprive the guard of drill facilities.

Council authorized Mayor Roy W. Vaughn to present a cooperative drilling plan to the navy and instructed the streets and finance committees to draw up leading legislation if the navy agrees to the plan.

May Get Radar Unit.

Condon said that if the guard is cramped for drill space, Mansfield may find itself with only a "foot soldier" unit.

On the other hand, he said, if adequate drill space is provided, the city may be assigned a mechanized army unit or perhaps a radar unit. The latter would be trained in conjunction with an air unit at the port, he said.

Condon said that he "feels sure that the guard and navy could work together successfully."

If the proposed 100 feet by 120 feet naval armory is built too close to the guard armory or if the drill ground is fenced in by the navy it would limit the guard's activities, he said.

The naval armory is to consist of three side-by-side quonset huts each 40 by 100 feet. The armory itself will cost $100,000; its equipment, $200,000. The navy would pay for both.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR CONVENTION

City, County Pupils to Get Holiday Friday.

Thousands of Mansfield and Richland county school children will have a holiday Friday when their teachers attend conventions of their associations in Cleveland, Toledo and Columbus.

While the pupils are on their one-day vacation, the teachers are expected to spend Saturday in discussions of their working problems and in listening to speakers.

Most of the county's and all of the city's teachers will attend the conference of the North Eastern Ohio Teachers' association at Cleveland where Dr Walter H. Judd, congressman from Minnesota, will talk on "The Significance of Events in Asia."

An event of the morning session in Cleveland will be the appearance of the Cleveland orchestra under the direction of Rudolph Ringwall. Schools Supt. E. F. Kerr of Salem will preside and Dr. Thomas W Graham, of Oberlin college, will give the invocation. A business meeting of the entire group will be held in the afternoon, as will special meetings of committees.

Lehnhoff to Speak At Meet Thursday

S. K. Lehnhoff, Bible lecturer of Washington, D. C., will speak Thursday evening at the Mansfield Public library, it was announced today. His subject will be "Life Beyond Death."

He also will speak on Tuesday and Friday evenings at Johnny Appleseed junior high school, and on Sunday evenings at the John Simpson junior high school.

SNYDER REVAMPS TYGER BACKFIELD

Sports Samovar

By JOHN BARRINGTON

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Scrambled scribblings from the sports samovar. . . . With sports interest reaching new heights, Ohio colleges are seeking to establish league ties which figure to enhance both competitive and spectator interest. . . . Ever since the old Buckeye conference became defunct approximately a decade ago, the loose and ungainly Ohio conference has been the state's only functioning circuit.

One new league has already entered the field, however, and recent reports have pointed to the establishment of at least two more. . . . The Midwestern Conference of Urban Universities . . . what a mouthful that one picked for its title . . . is set to go with the coming basketball season. . . . Membership includes Western Reserve, Ohio U. and Miami from Ohio, Butler of Indiana and Wayne of Michigan.

Last week, reports from Akron suggested a loop would soon be formed embodying Akron university, Baldwin-Wallace, Case, John Carroll and Toledo. . . . Why five-member circuits seem to be the vogue is a moot question. . . . Arguments in favor of that proposed hook-up are geographical arrangement, existence of natural athletic rivalries and situation of all five in large population centers.

George Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan, an old Buckeye conference member, introduced visions of a four-state league with schools from Indiana, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Ohio represented. Gauthier made his suggestion in connection with Saturday's game between the Bishops and DePauw. . . . Which he singled out at a "natural rival for Wesleyan."

Such a regrouping can hurt no one, least of all the present Ohio conference. . . . Most of the schools to be involved in such new loops wouldn't be O.A.C. members anyway. . . . And the over-large Ohio conference . . . we'll bet you can't name all its members . . . would profit from a tightening of its own belt.

The Mansfield Tygers suffered a real blow in their scrap for state high school grid honors when Kenny Horvath, ace fullback, broke his leg in practice Monday night. . . . Horvath was the team's leading ground gainer and point maker. . . . He had picked up 571 yards from scrimmage in 94 ball-carrying efforts. . . . And scored 11 touchdowns in six games.

Ohio State university's varsity squad has three sets of brothers. . . . Varsity Halfback Tom Phillips has a brother who plays center on the Jayvee eleven . . . Max Schnittker, place kicking specialist, keeps his eye on the reserves where Brother Dick holds forth at end . . . and Dave and Dale Bonnie are freshmen twins also on the junior varsity.

Switches Ray Beard To Fullback

In an effort to further plug the gap left when Kenny Horvath, star fullback, broke his leg, Mansfield Coach Paul Snyder yesterday shifted Ray Beard to the backfield.

The 195-pound Beard has performed at tackle and end this season but was shifted to the backfield to give Harry Osbun, 175-pound sophomore, help at fullback. Jimmy Lymper, backfield mentor, is working hard with both boys and hopes to have them ready to alternate against Canton Timken Friday night.

Lymper and Snyder were pleased with Beard's ball-carrying yesterday. The big senior has plenty of drive and may turn into a pretty fair line-blaster. Osbun looked good against Sandusky when he carried the oval four times for 28 yards and counted one touchdown.

Horvath was lost for the season Monday when he suffered a broken left leg in a scrimmage session. Kenny was the leading Tyger scorer with 66 points and had gained 571 yards in 94 trips with the pigskin.

Ralph Majors now leads the scoring and rushing parades. He has counted five TD's and has scooted for 485 yards in 79 carries.

The Bengals are working on offense this week and may take to the air more than usual against Timken. With Ollie Cline doing most of the tossing, Mansfield has tried only 18 passes in six games, completing nine.

Mansfield's overall offensive maneuvers have accounted for 1643 yards while the opposition has picked up only 969.

Canton has won three of six games this season and Coach Bud Jones has six lettermen off the 1945 Timken squad which defeated Mansfield, 13-7. The monogram winners are Ron Van Horn and Ross Schmidt, tackles; Jack Watson, end; Jim Colceri, Lou Williams and Chuck Neago, backs.

Neago, a four-year veteran, leads the Timken scorers with 30 points.

Brown Boosts Pro Playoffs

CLEVELAND—(AP)—If the National Football league lifts its self-imposed ban on post-season games, the Cleveland Browns of the infant all-America conference are ready to tangle with the best the older loop has to offer.

Coach Paul E. Brown, head of the local club, made that plain last night but said no formal challenge would be issued should the Clevelanders, winners of seven in a row, grab the gonfalon in the all-America.

Bert Bell, commissioner of the National league, said in New York, however, that post-season games were out of the question for his loop. "Our season ends with the regular playoffs between the eastern and western division winners," Bell said. "The winner of that game is the only world champion we recognize."

Brown, in saying no formal challenge would be issued for a post-season series, declared the best way to bring about a playoff or football "World Series" would be to wait until public opinion demanded that method of settling the over-all championship.

Arthur B. (Mickey) McBride, owner of the Cleveland club, is red-hot in favor of a playoff with the National leaguers. He wants a three-game series, with the first two games in the home towns of the competing clubs and the third, if necessary, on a neutral gridiron.

Demchuk Defends Wrestling Title

Johnny Demchuk, junior heavyweight wrestling champ, will be defending his belt tomorrow night in the weekly grunt and groan show against Davey Reynolds from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, at the Armory.

Reynolds and Demchuk grapple in the best two-of-three falls, 90 minute main-go.

In the preliminary match, starting at 8:15 o'clock, Ken Mayne, a new comer from Texas has been signed to wrestle Ali Aliba. This event is a 60 minute time limit.

Galion Plays Host To Bellevue Team

GALION — Galion high school Tigers will be host to the Bellevue Redmen, at Heise park, here, Thursday night.

The game will be Galion's final home tilt of the Northern Ohio league. Galion goes to Willard next week and then closes the season at home with Ashland, a non-league opponent.

The Bellevue team has lost all six games they have played this season, but they are coming to Galion hopeful of an upset.

Terry Brennan, Milwaukee, left halfback, and Leon Hart, Turtle Creek, Pa., right end, hold sway as the youngest men on the Notre Dame Varsity. Brennan has just turned and Hart is 17.

Phillips Moved to Quarter; Midwestern Football Picture

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Certainly nobody has been more painfully aware of the inability of the Ohio State football team to explode for quick touchdowns this season than Coach Paul Bixler, and he has taken several steps to remedy the condition.

Most of these remedies would not be immediately apparent to the non-expert, but it should be fairly obvious for the rest of the season that the Bucks have decided to spend more time throwing forward passes.

To that end, Bixler has restored Berea's passing wizard, Tommy Phillips, to the quarterback spot on the "T" for at least part of the time.

Phillips was moved to left half earlier, because he disliked throwing from the under-center spot, but as things stand, he has become the Bucks' only ace passer and his return to the quarterback position was almost a necessity. He'll still work at left half part of the time.

Bixler wound up practice last night with a scrimmage session that turned into an extremely rugged session. Mike Cannavino, a right halfback, suffered a groin injury but was expected to be in shape for Minnesota Saturday.

The early part of the session was spent in a blocking drill and in work on defensive assignments against the single-wing. Minnesota will be the first team faced by Ohio State this season to use single-wing as its basic formation.

CHICAGO-(INS)—Notre Dame's invasion of Iowa City for Saturday's game with Iowa's Hawkeyes and the Illinois trek to Ann Arbor, for its Western conference struggle with Michigan dominate the midwestern college football picture today.

In other Western conference games scheduled Saturday, Northwestern entertains Alonzo Stagg's College of Pacific eleven at Evanston, Ill., Indiana meets Nebraska at Lincoln, Neb., and Minnesota travels to Columbus, to play Ohio State.

Purdue goes to Pittsburgh to tackle Pitt and Wisconsin has an open date.

Notre Dame's aspirations for the national football title are involved in its clash with the formidable Hawkeyes while Michigan's hopes for the Western conference championship may rest on the outcome of its game with Illinois.

The Irish are favored to beat Iowa on their experience and wealth of able material in every position.

But Iowa, ably coached in the T-formation by Dr. Eddie Anderson has three fine backs in Dick Hoerner, Erdon Tunnell and Bob Sullivan, and a hard-fighting line-up which disposed of Indiana last week and came close to tying Michigan earlier this season.

Coach Fritz Crisler of Michigan expects to have his full team strength ready for the Illini invasion. Two injured stars, George Burg, a guard, and Jack Weisenburger, a fullback, are close to top shape.

Coach Ray Eliot of Illinois rested a quartet of his aces yesterday to make sure they would be ready to give favored Michigan plenty of trouble. They are Art Dufelmeier, Alex Agase, Mike Kasap and Mac Wenskunas.

Northwestern's date with College of Pacific at Evanston is the reason for a sentimental journey for the invaders' coach, Stagg, long-time famous mentor at the University of Chicago. Northwestern's reserves are expected to perform most of the action in this breather game for the Wildcats.

Minnesota has lost the services of Veteran End Bill Baumgartner for the Ohio State game. Injuries have shelved Baumgartner. But Warren Williams, a good halfback who was on the injured list, is back in condition to help narrow the odds which have Ohio State a slight favorite over the Gophers.

At Lafayette, Ind., Purdue's Boilermakers drilled on blocking and tried to speed up their passing game for Pitt. Quarterback Bob DeMoss, Purdue's best passer, who has been ailing with injuries, will see more action than he did last week, as his injuries have responded to treatment.

Basketball Loop Meets at YMCA

A meeting of the Commercial "B" basketball league has been called for tonight at 7:30 at the YMCA, John Fike, athletic instructor, announced today.

All the teams already signed up and any additional teams wanting to enter the league should come to this meeting. Fike said that entry fees, rules, and the deadline for entry into the loop would be discussed.

Any basketball player entered in the City "A" league is ineligible for the Commercial "B" league.

Barons Invade Springfield, Lead Western Division

The Cleveland Barons, unbeaten in their first four starts this season, take on Jery Eddie Shore and his revived Indians at Springfield tonight in an effort to overhaul the league-leading Hershey Bears.

Cleveland leads the Western division of the American Hockey league with three wins and a tie, but the Beans head the Eastern division and the entire loop with a total of four victories without a setback.

Cats Top Big 9 In Offense

CHICAGO—(AP)—Northwestern Western conference co-leader, has averaged more than one-fifth mile per game to top the league for the second successive week in total offense.

The Wildcats, holding victories over Wisconsin and Minnesota and a 14-14 tie with Michigan, have piled up an average of 245 yards along the ground and 80.7 in the air with an average pass completion of five out of 12 tosses.

In addition to total yardage, Northwestern also leads in rushing gains, but its passing mark is far down the list with Indiana ranking first with an average of 135.75 yards on 10 out of 22 connections.

Ohio State is second in total offense with a 292 average, followed by Illinois with 272.7, Indiana with 266 and Iowa with 252.7.

Second to Northwestern in rushing yardage is Iowa with 219.3, while Ohio is runner-up to Indiana in aerial gains with 111.5 yards. Northwestern also heads the conference with fewer fumbles, having lost the ball to opponents only twice in three games.

Announce Pro Cage League Schedule

NEW YORK—(UP)—A 330-game schedule for the 11 professional teams in the newly-formed Basketball Association of America was announced today by President Maurice Podoloff, who said competition would begin on Nov. 1 and continue through March 30.

The cities in the league are New York, Boston, Chicago, Toronto, Cleveland, Detroit, Philadelphia, Providence, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, and Washington.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The American Association announced today that its annual league meeting will be held in Los Angeles Dec. 1, three days before baseball's minor league sessions.

GLAMOROUS HOMECOMING QUEEN—Ruth Applegath, daugater of Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Applegath of Ashland, will preside at Ashland college's homecoming game against Hiram, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A senior, Miss Applegath is majoring in psychology. Her attendants will be Phyliss Long, Prospect and Mrs. Dale Roesch, from New London.

Miller Sparks Tyger Sophs

MARION—Joe Miller showered the Marion reserves with passes yesterday afternoon to lead the Mansfield sophomores to a 47 to 7 football victory here.

Miller completed 16 out of 20 aerials, two for touchdowns to Bernard Weaver and Paul Hammond. Miller also rambled for three TD's, one on a 55-yard off-tackle smash.

Louis Gregorio, and Dick Zeigler, scooted for the other two scores after extended Bengal drives.

John Cochran, Mansfield tackle added four more conversions with his talented toe and Tony Taddeo, substitute back kicked one extra point.

Play For Loop Title

FREMONT—(AP)—Fremont Ross high school, unbeaten in six starts, will meet the defending champion Bowling Green team for the Buckeye league grid title Friday night at Bowling Green. The Bee-Gees have lost one game, to powerful Lima Central.

ALEXANDER GETS BIG TEST TONIGHT

Dick Alexander, Mansfield welterweight, is ready for the top test of his professional fistic career tonight in the Armory ring.

The 147-pound swatter concluded his workouts yesterday and feels confident of his ability to make Johnny Bryant, Massillon belter, another victim in his victory string. Alexander has won six straight pro battles, including five in the Mansfield Armory ring.

Alexander and Bryant collide in the feature eight-round match of the sixth Rex Reese-Sam Miller pro show. Featherweights Wally Barkley, Massillon, and Lefty Lou Williams, Dayton, meet in the other eight rounder.

Bryant carries a fine record into tonight's bout. He has won seven straight fights since his discharge from the service and all have been knockout decisions. Only one of the seven victims got beyond the fifth stanza.

Barkley has lost only one decision in the past two years and holds a previous victory over the fast-moving Williams.

The six-round semi-final finds Joe Brown making his second Mansfield appearance with Kid Esmont, Canton, furnishing the opposition. Brown, a light-heavy, decisioned Jimmy Smith in his previous local fight.

Two four-round fusses open the show. Smiling Red Beckholt, Mt. Vernon, meets Jackie Small, Massillon, and Phil Scott, Marion, goes against Johnny Ross, Massillon, in the prelims.

The Scott-Ross bout opens the card at 8:15 p. m.

Officials for the show are: Sam Fox, timekeeper; Dick Jones and Bill Harry, referees and James Brownscombe, announcer. The Mansfield boxing commission will name the three judges for the show.

Lou Groza Leads Scorers

NEW YORK — (UP) — If the Cleveland Browns can just keep scoring touchdowns, Lou Groza, their burly tackle who earns his salary with one foot, should have little trouble winning the individual scoring race in the All-America conference this season.

Groza, a six-foot, three-inch, 225-pounder who rarely enters the game except for his place-kicking specialty, booted a 48-yard field goal and four extra points Sunday as the Browns defeated Los Angeles, 34 to 14. That increased his total to 46 points all on kicking for the season, 10 more than runnerup Len Eshmont of San Francisco.

Groza's field goal was the longest of the A.A.C. campaign and his extra points gave him a string of 22 successful conversions in as many attempts. He needs only two more field goals to tie the professional record for a season set by Jack Manders of the Chicago Bears in 1934.

The only changes in the other individual leaders of the All-America during the past week were in rushing, where Cleveland's Marion Motley regained the ground-gaining lead from Orban (Spec) Sanders of New York, and in the passing department, where Glenn Dobbs of Brooklyn moved into a tie for top honors with Bob (Huncy) Hoernschemeyer of Chicago.

Motley has a total of 433 yards or an average of 49 yards in 51 rushes. Dobbs completed nine out of 16 passes as his team lost to New York, 21 to 10, to move from fourth into a tie for first.

Hoerschemeyer, key man in the Rockets' T-attack, retained a wide lead in total offense with 912 yards and topped runnerup Dobbs by 157 yards. The Brooklyn triple-threat halfback held his punting lead, however, with an average of 45.9 yards on 36 boots, while End Allyn Beals of San Francisco clung to the pass-receiving honors with 20 catches good for 289 yards and four touchdowns.

Spikes Rumors On Yank Boss

NEW YORK —(UP)— President Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees baseball team squelched published reports today that Stanley (Bucky) Harris had been named manager of the club and added that "the Yankee job has been offered to no one."

MacPhail rose from his sick bed last night to deny a story that Harris, Yankee front-office executive, had been appointed manager and that Charley Dressen, coach with the Brooklyn Dodgers, had been named his chief assistant in a "secret meeting" which included American League President Will Harridge.

"I haven't seen Harridge in three months; I haven't seen Harris in three weeks, and I had no secret meeting," MacPhail said. "I've been sick in bed all day and I have offered the Yankee job to no one."

Enters '600' Club

H. Freese entered the "600" club last night at the Colony bowling alleys with a score of 234-210-168—612, to lead the Dearman Transportation team, in the Transportation league.

You can actually see the difference between modern Pal blades and usual blades. And you can feel the difference, too, with your very first shave.
Usual safety razor blades are ground like a pocket knife. Pal Blades are different—they're Leather Stropped and Hollow Ground just like a barber's razor.
Results: Pal Blades are flexible in your razor—follow facial contours effortlessly. Your shave is cool, quick, no "bearing down." And delicate edges last longer, too. That's why millions call it the Pal "Feather Touch" shave

OPA VIOLATIONS COST SIX $895

Shelby and Willard Merchants Also Are Penalized.

Six Mansfield merchants paid $895.96 into the U. S. Treasury during September for OPA violations, it was announced today by Herbert S. Fowkes, OPA District director at Cleveland. A Shelby and a Willard merchant also paid penalties of $44.38 and $25, respectively.

This amount represents payments in either single, double or treble damages for alleged overcharges during September.

The merchants, commodities in which they were accused of violating price regulations and the amounts of their payments were:

The Central Fruit and Grocery company, 35 West Sixth street, groceries, $586.03; Emil Zimmerman, Zim's Neighborhood store, 266 West Fourth street, groceries, $25; George Shamas, Deluxe Restaurant, 37 East Fourth street, meals, $120.

D. R. Reinhart, 139 South Franklin avenue, bananas, $50; D. W. Tucker, Tucker's Furniture store, 180 North Main street, furniture, $89.93; R. S. Schroer, Charles Schroer, 117-133 North Diamond street, furniture, $25.

A Shelby merchant, George W. Roush, operator of the Shelby Hardware company, paid $44.38 for alleged overcharges on furniture. $25.

In Willard Jack Stockley, of Stockley Market, paid $50 for alleged overcharges on meat.

Cites Value of Retirement Plan

Prospective army enlistees should give more thought to the army retirement plan when considering army salaries, M/Sgt. Daniel DeSalvo, of the Mansfield Army recruiting office, said today.

"Too few men considering enlistment take into account the importance of this retirement plan which enables a man to receive a substantial monthly income after 20 or 30 years service." DeSalvo said.

"Retirement credits pile up at a rate of approximately $100 per month, according to top ranking insurance statisticians."

"Every man who has already completed 18 months of service has a stake of $1,800 in his army job, and the man who has served five years has "saved" $6,000 toward his retirement," DeSalvo pointed out.

'Tokyo Rose' Escapes Trial For Treason.

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—"Tokyo Rose," who tried — without success—to lure American soldiers into Jap prison camps with insinuations of faithless wives and other morale-breaking stories, was not one woman, but many.

Largely because of this, Iva Toguri, Los Angeles-born Japanese girl, is not going to be brought to trial for treason.

United States Attorney James M. Carter announced that thoughts of prosecuting Miss Toguri have been dropped.

Factory Sales Of Autos Fall

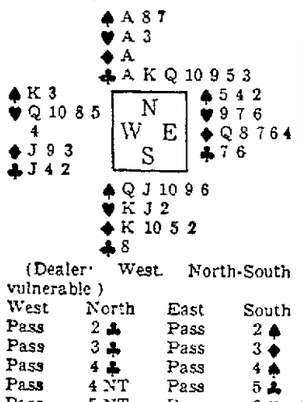
DETROIT— (AP) —Factory sales of passenger automobiles during the first nine months of this year were 56 per cent less than for the corresponding period of 1941, the Automobile Manufacturers' association reported today.

The association said the factories sold 1,329,345 passenger units in the first three quarters of this year compared with 3,017,669 in the like period of 1941. Included were 83,275 passenger vehicles shipped to foreign markets.

Truck sales during the January-to-September period were 621,226 compared with 804,331 in the same nine-month period of 1941 This year's sales included 121,113 in foreign markets.

Barclay On Bridge

Offhand, the average player would say that if a contract depends on the winning of a single finesse, and there are two he can try, one is just about as good a gamble as the other Or he might even grant you that a second-round finesse against a queen is better than a first-round finesse against a king, because in the meantime he may possibly drop a singleton queen But there are still other considerations One of those finesses may be from a series of cards just below the outstanding honor, so that if it loses, the rest of the tricks are set up whereas the other finesse leaves you nothing established if it fails



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable)

West	North	East	South
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 ♦
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	4 NT	Pass	5 ♣
Pass	5 NT	Pass	6 ♥
Pass	7 NT

After East led his diamond 6 North counted 12 immediate tricks and saw that he could get the 13th with a finesse in either hearts or spades He decided to stake everything on the heart finesse because that had one slight advantage over the other—he could first play the A and thus have the slight extra chance of dropping a singleton Q When that didn't work on the second trick he finessed the J which lost to the Q setting him And he still had to try the spade finesse in order to avoid going down another trick

When South pointed out to him after the hand that he should have favored the spade finesse rather than the heart, North accused him of "second guessing Then South indicated to him the several advantages of the spade finesse over the heart First of all, West was more likely to have a singleton honor in spades than hearts, since North-South had so many more cards Second, if the spade finesse failed, there was no chance at all of going down two due to intermediates Neither spoke of how a squeeze could have been worked if either defender had both missing major honors.

Magic of Science Described By Noted Research Engineer

By ALVIN PREYER

A scientific "magician" last night held an audience of 300 spellbound at the John Simpson auditorium.

The "magician" was Dr. Phillip Thomas, Westinghouse research engineer, who gave an illustrated lecture on "Adventures in Science."

After a short technicolor film "The Dawn of Better Living," which emphasized the fact that tomorrow's homes will be built around our scheme of living, Dr Thomas began his performance.

On the stage was a physical set-up that looked like a magician's—Boxes, lights, tubes and mysterious looking "gadgets" defying the layman's description They all turned out to be under Dr. Thomas' guiding hand, scientific electronic instruments

What Dr. Thomas did with that equipment would have made Aladdin turn in his magic lamp on a new model. Through the combined development of radio, the electric eye, ultra violet rays, and an instrument called the strobiscope, Dr. Thomas was able to present a series of mystifying and entertaining exhibits

The radiation of electric current was made to light bulbs when there was no direct connection. The electric eye was used to turn on a series of lights, including the lights that illuminated the performance.

The use of ultra violet rays to discover sources of metal was vividly demonstrated by extinguishing the lights in the auditorium and flashing a ray on the spectators who could see each others teeth gleaming white in the darkness by virtue of the phoshorus in them.

The climax of the show came when, with the aid of the strobiscope, Dr Thomas made a rapidly revolving propeller appear to be standing still. This feat had its practical use in the testing of propellors and motors during the war, Dr Thomas explained

Four 'Weary But Willing' Men Fined

Four "weary Willies" were fined $10 and costs yesterday in municipal court on charges of illegal train riding filed by a Pennsylvania railroad police officer.

The four men pleaded guilty to the charges. The registered as Willie Wilson, of Cincinnati; Will Johnson, of War, W. Va.; William Wells, Pulaski, Tenn., and Willie Redding, of Vienna, Ga

In a "defense statement," Johnson declared "I thought it was all right, judge, 'cause we had no money and was lookin' fo' work. It's better than stealing, ain't it?"

Judge Schettler admitted that their "aims were lofty" but pointed out that they were violating a law and that they were attempting to "make the means justify the ends."

"If I permitted that philosophy to stand in court I'd dismiss every case that came before me," he said.

American citizens, whether natural born or naturalized, are not subject to the immigration laws.

How to help yourself to coal...
...and help your dealer, too!

THERE should be coal this winter for everyone. But due to shortages of coal carrying equipment and labor, it's going to take some careful planning on the part of your dealer to have the coal for you when you need it.

You can help him in that planning—and, of course, help yourself, too—by doing these things:

1. Tell your dealer your total heating requirements.
2. Don't let your coal bin get too low.

Even if your dealer has coal on hand he may not be able to deliver it to you on a moment's notice So while your bin is still partially filled call him so he can schedule delivery before you're all out.

When you buy coal from your local dealer, you are buying a quality product Bringing coal to warm your homes and power your industries is one more example of how the Erie Railroad serves your community well.

A Regular Fellow's Dream Home

Here is a brand new brick bungalow located on Cook road in South Hills that is built for both charm and comfort. There is a large, cheery living room with a wood-burning fireplace, a full sized dining room and two large airy bedrooms which will accommodate twin beds. These four respective rooms are fully carpeted. Then there is a modern kitchen very conveniently arranged and a bath with shower. The attic is large and could be finished into two more bedrooms. There is a full-sized cement basement with a built-in garage and still has ample space left for a large recreation or game room. Heat is furnished by an automatic Luxaire gas furnace. This home is well constructed on a large double lot and is sure to please the most discriminating buyer at the price of $15,000. Shown by appointment only.

I'VE BEEN THINKING IT OVER, WOODCOCK. RATHER THAN START SUIT, I'LL TAKE A 50-50 SPLIT ON THAT COMMISSION, OR $187.50.
I SOLD WITHOUT ANY COMMISSION, SO THERE ISN'T ANYTHING TO SPLIT, SKELTER.
MY CLIENT IS AS SET ON GETTING THE HOUSE AS I AM ON A COMMISSION. IF I DON'T SUE YOU, HE'LL SUE ME.
THAT'S JUST YOUR TOUGH LUCK.
SO YOU WON'T COOPERATE?
NO. YOU CAN TAKE IT TO COURT, BUT I'M WITHIN MY RIGHTS AND YOU CAN'T WIN.

PETER TRIES TO MAKE SOME CALLS

The falling leaves made Peter Rabbit feel lonesome. That is what he said anyway. Perhaps they did. You see they constantly reminded him of feathered friends who already had left on the long flight to the Sunny South and of others who would soon do so. Every day some left, many of them without even saying good-bye. One day they would be in or around the dear Old Briar-patch and the next day they would be gone. So the falling leaves reminded Peter that this was the season of long partings and gave him that lonesome feeling.

"I wonder if Johnny Chuck feels the same way I do," thought Peter and decided then and there to run over to pay Johnny a call. Perhaps then he would get rid of this lonesome feeling.

So when he was sure that Mrs. Peter had her back turned, that neither Reddy Fox nor Mrs. Reddy were on the Green Meadows, and that not a Hawk was in the sky, he started for Johnny Chuck's house. It was quite a distance and Peter made the very best use of those long hind legs of his, bounding along lipperty, lipperty, lip, his white tail bouncing up and down like a ball of thistle-down blown by the Merry Little Breezes.

So at last he came to Johnny Chuck's house. Johnny wasn't sitting on his doorstep as he so dearly loves to do as Peter had so often seen him. He was nowhere to be seen. Running from the dear Old Briar-patch Peter had run away from that lonesome feeling but now at Johnny Chuck's house it caught up with him again and was worse than before. There was something about that doorway that made Peter feel sure that it hadn't been used recently. Peter looked at the sandy doorstep for footprints. There were just two. They had been made several days before and they were not Johnny Chuck's. No, sir, they were not Johnny Chuck's. Peter knew only too well whose footprints those were.

"Reddy Fox," muttered Peter. Had he caught Johnny Chuck at last? Was that why Johnny was no longer about? It wasn't a happy thought. It made Petetr sit up hastily and look all about. No one was in sight save Blacky the Crow flying toward the Green Forest.

Peter peeped in the doorway. A spider had spun a web across it. That meant that no one else was using that doorway. It made that feeling of lonesomeness worse because with it was a feeling of sadness.

"Either Johnny has moved away or something had happened to him," thought Peter. Then, being full of curiosity as always, he forgot his lonesomeness and sadness and wondered what Johnny's house was like inside.

"If it is as good as his houses usually are I may be able to use it sometimes," thought Peter. "If Reddy Fox or some other danger should surprise me too far from the dear Old Briar-patch this might be very handy."

He brushed aside the web and slowly made his way inside. There was a long hall slanting down deep below the possible reach of Jack Frost. In bitter cold weather there would be comfortable warmth down there. He came to a branch hall and guessed that that led to a back door. Then he came to Johnny Chuck's snug bedroom and —Johnny Chuck himself! Johnny was rolled up in a ball and it seemed as if he was dead. Peter suddenly remembered something.

Calling on a person who is asleep isn't very satisfactory, so after a hasty but careful look to make sure the way was clear Peter started for Farmer Brown's garden. He would call on Old Mr. Toad.

"Looking for someone?" asked Sammy Jay.

"For Old Mr. Toad," replied Peter.

"You'll look a long time before you see him," chuckled Sammy.

"Has he gone away?" asked Peter.

"He has gone to sleep," replied Sammy.

TELEPHONE MEN ADDRESS CLUB

Co-op's See Demonstration of Radar Micro Waves.

It's possible to talk from Mansfield to 5 per cent of the telephones of the world.

This fact was revealed to Co-Operative club members, meeting last night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, by Robert C. Clark and John H. Ilenshel, of the Ohio Bell Telephone company.

Explaining and demonstrating the principles of radar micro waves, television, and telephones, the two men demonstrated many contemplated uses for these instruments.

It was explained that telephones for cars were actually in use and would be sold here. Car phones will have two initials and five numbers. When the number is called a bell will ring and a light will flash on the instrument panel of the car.

It was also pointed out that the speed of long distance calls has been greatly increased. Twenty-five years ago waiting time for long distance calls was 24 minutes. At the beginning of the war it was only one and a quarter minutes.

Prior to the lecture, Jack Kindel reported to the club on the Second district convention held at Richmond, Ind., last week.

A joint meeting with the Co-operettes will be held on Nov. 21. Aid for handicapped children will be discussed.

Friendly House Dance Scheduled

The first dance of the fall season at the Friendly House will be sponsored by the newly-organized Zip club, Thursday from 8 to 10:30 p. m.

The "Halloween Hop" will be held in the gym with refreshments and special entertainment on the program. Special number will be presented by Shirley Lay, accordionist and Marty Zimmerman, tap dancer.

Officers of the new club are Pat Daley, president; George Doyle, vice president; Jack Brandt, secretary; and Dick Bohland, treasurer.

MILLERSBURG — WCTU will meet at the home of Mrs. C. E. Marvin, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 24. Mrs. Margaret Egger will be in charge of the program.

ASHLAND SOLON CITES NEED OF ADDED REVENUE

Public Support of 1-Mill Levy Urged as $14,000 Deficit Faces City.

ASHLAND—Urging support for the one-mill levy "if city services are to be maintained," city council here last night asked public support to secure additional operating funds. Council stressed that the measure must pass if city protection is to be continued in full.

The city faces a $14,000 deficit in its budget if the school system uses its allotted funds, Councilman Richard B. Oblinger stated. In previous years, he said, the school had permitted the city use of these funds, but this year need them for their own operation.

The one-mill levy, requiring a 65 per cent vote to pass, will cost taxpayers only $1 per $1,000 and will bring the city an estimated $21,000 revenue, Oblinger continued.

Should the measure fail, he warned, some other means of securing additional funds will have to be found. Suggested measures include sewer rental charges and garbage collection fees. Either of these, Oblinger asserted, would mean a greater cost to taxpayers.

The city's chemist, Donald Copeland, in answer to recurrent queries from residents about adequacy of the municipal water supply said that expansion of water consumption in the next six years, at its present rate, will require more water and more equipment.

Drying of private wells at the Eagle Rubber company has added 400,000 gallons daily to local consumption, Copeland said. He asked for installation of more filters, stating that if the present filter goes out of service, there will be none available for use.

let's quit being gluttons for punishment

The harvest of 14 years of government by decree — by half truths, broken promises and secret agreements — is here. Continued shortages of everything — rising costs of living — a depreciated currency — high taxes — the biggest public debt of all time — confusion at home — loss of respect abroad.

Responsibility for these things points straight at the wild political theorists and power-hungry bureaucrats now in office. Yet they continue to cry only for more controls and always more public money to spend.

we can get rid of the present muddle

Government meddling and fallacies are not necessary. Shortages are not necessary. Stoppages of production are not necessary. Sacrifice of personal liberty is not necessary. Your vote gives you the power to halt this joy ride to ruin. Use it to elect men who will start right now cleaning out the New Deal bureaucratic mess and restoring free opportunity to all.

Put your mark under the Republican eagle on your ballot. Elect Thomas J. Herbert as Governor of Ohio, together with an entire Republican state administration and Legislature. Send John W. One Mansfielder Fined $50; Companion Escapes.

Varian said in court today he had thought letting air out of tires "would be fun," but, he added, "I don't figure it's fun now."

The arrest and conviction of Varian marked the first successful prosecution of vandalism in Mansfield during the pre-Halloween season.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said today that he and Capt. Harvey Fleck of the Richland County Minute Man organization have called the Minute Men into service tonight to help patrol rural areas against vandalism.

The Minute Men are volunteers who serve in the event of an emergency.

Meanwhile, two cases of vandalism were reported to the sheriff's office today.

Mrs. Earl W. Tanner, Pavonia, said a group of boys hooked an automobile to an outside building and pulled the building several hundred feet last night. She said the structure was completely destroyed.

Frank W. Baumberger, State Route 545-N, reported 30 shocks of corn were upset on his farm last night by vandals.

Young Democrats Hear Candidates

The regular monthly meeting of the Richland County Young Democratic committee was held last night at Democratic headquarters on North Main street.

Approximately 100 persons heard talks by Lewis L. Rinehart, candidate for county commissioner, and Harry Bowman, candidate for state representative, Norman Wolf, county auditor, said today.

the counters in the past four months.

Suckers, in all flavors and colors, which sold for one cent a year ago, are now two cents.

In the past 25 years, Roy McConkie, manager of the DePue market on Newman street, has sold a lot of candy to little boys and girls. The current shortage has turned up some comical situations, he said.

For instance, McConkie received a box of colored wax false teeth the other day. They made good chewing gum and were soon snapped up by the neighborhood youngsters.

"I had the teeth in the showcase when one of the little neighborhood children came to the grocery," McConkie began.

"She looked at the teeth for a long time. She had no change from her purchase.

"Finally, she asked me if I'd lay back a set until she could get her penny after school. I told her I'd let her take them along and that she could pay me when she came back."

Three-thirty came and so did the little girl and the penny.

"Every day after shool the children stop at the door to look at the candy case," he continued. "If there's anything in the case, they'll buy 25 cents worth at a time to build up a supply."

Voters to Act on School Pay Hikes

COLUMBUS—(UP)—School levies to improve school teachers' salaries will be placed before voters in hundreds of Ohio school districts next month, the Ohio Education association announced here today.

Association officials blame the current teacher shortage on present low salaries. The average teacher's salary increased $410 during the war years but real buying power has shrunk to approximately $330 a year less than in 1939, the association avers.

Integrity
... the ingredient that now is more important than ever
Almost a hundred years ago my ancestors came to Milwaukee and brought with them a simple belief. They believed that a man's work or his product always should be his best.
It was in this spirit that they founded the Joseph Schlitz Brewing Company in 1849. Since that time, four generations of our family have guided the destiny of Schlitz and firmly held to this same belief. It is a belief that still lives and charts the course of Schlitz through these days of restrictions and increased demand.
We know that you would like more Schlitz than present restrictions on the use of materials will permit us to make. But keeping up with demand is one thing and keeping up quality is another.
When choice ingredients are limited, they will make just so much Schlitz. If we attempted to make more beer under such conditions, it wouldn't be Schlitz. It's as simple as that.
Schlitz never has sacrificed quality for volume and never will. Always, you will find that every bottle of Schlitz fully justifies your confidence in the name it bears.

INDUSTRY MUST AID WORKERS, SPEAKER SAYS

Security Must Be Provided If Labor Groups Are To Be Dissolved, Club Told.

Industry must offer workers greater security if there is to be eventual dissolution of labor organizations such as now exist.

This proposal keynoted an address by Dr. E. T. Weiler, head of the department of business administration and economics at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, who spoke before the Rotary club at its noonday meeting yesterday in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

"I don't think that a free competitive society can have labor unions, as sectional bargaining can lead to nothing but ruin," Weiler said.

"Private enterprise and government should offer greater security, which workers now turn to the unions to get, by arranging a rebate of corporation income taxes to be distributed to the workers on condition that the union would be dissolved," Weiler suggested.

Asserting that it was "time for conservatives to re-examine their basic premises and then go about doing something in the manner of a concrete program," Weiler pointed out that "inasmuch as times have changed, security has become a prime objective, and we can't go back, we must see what we can do to advance."

Urges Free Market.

The basic premises upon which conservatives must advance, Weiler said, are "that there must be a free competitive market, a retention of an effective set of motivations for further effort, and the provision of security which was not as essential 50 years ago."

Put into a concrete program, these terms mean "letting the market decide how much and what kind of goods should be produced, abolition of OPA, enforcement of the anti-trust laws, and replacement of unions by some sort of profit-sharing system and social security which would guarantee the security which means so much to the worker There should also be the substitution of a yearly 'price floor' for the present parities for farmers now enforced by the AAA, change of a system which taxes high income brackets thus killing incentive, reduced taxes in times of depression and raised taxes in periods of inflation, and a reservoir of unemployed protected by unemployment compensation," Weiler said.

"This means government intervention of a completely different kind," Weiler concluded. "Government must be aware of the monopoly of industry and of labor and must act so as to provide a free society with the required amount of stability guaranteed by the right kind of intervention."

Fred Hout, program chairman, introduced Weiler in what was almost a Rotary-Ohio Wesleyan day In addition to the speaker and Hout, there were Paul Eliot, William Bloor Earl Black, Louis Schaefer, Dean Dickerson, and Herman M Shipps, alumni secretary, present as representatives of Ohio Wesleyan

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

On a recent radio program appeared a character named Horace who admitted that he was so emaciated and run down that he didn't dare don a tuxedo for fear some nearsighted undertaker bury him.

"You ought to start eating carrots," suggested a well-wisher. "I had a friend who was in even worse shape than you. His doctor prescribed a carrot diet—nothing but carrots morning, noon and night He stuck to it for a year."

"Did the diet cure him?" asked Horace.

"I'm not sure," was the answer. "Every time I ask him how he feels, he just looks at me with his little pink eyes, and twitches his nose."

This is a true story that was reported recently by the New York newspapers

A man named Rabinowitz came out of a restaurant just as a taxi was driving off. He yelled, "Taxi," and the driver stopped for him "Bathgate and Tremont Avenues," he ordered. When the cab arrived there, Rabinowitz alighted, walked into Bronx police headquarters, emerged with two cops, and arrested the driver. It was Rabinowitz's taxicab.

12 SUE FOR $395,000

PITTSBURGH —(INS)— Twelve Clevelanders, survivors of the East Ohio company blast that killed 150 persons two years ago, sued the Pittsburgh-Des Moines company yesterday for a total of $395,000 in federal court at Pittsburgh.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, October 24.

DESPITE complication and tenacious obstacles, in the long run there is promise of some very definite advancement made on vitally desired plans and objectives. These are under promise of expansion, sound progress and increased business, credit and prestige, in which joint issues with those in important positions may be solidified. Nevertheless all this might be imperiled by overoptimism, inflationary ideas, and unsound policies, in which erratic moves or trick undercurrents menace. Build upon sound sense and reason.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in an involved or complex state of affairs, in which sound logic, quick wit, sane tactics and realistic procedures may secure progress. Expanded interests, increased finances, credits and opportunities, with enhanced prestige and popularity, in business and private place. But all gestures of over-acting, wild enthusiasm, false values and inflationary ideas might defeat such splendid prospects Rash and subtle undercurrents menace. Keep to sound and realistic operations and safeguard all funds and valued possessions.

A child born on this day has good prospects for success, advancement, personal and business prestige and popularity. A show of egotism or exhibitionism might jeopardize this.

TOWN DEDICATES PLANT

HILLSBORO —(AP)— This village's $204,000 water works, completed last summer, will be dedicated in public ceremony Nov. 6. The Hillsboro Rotary club has assumed sponsorship of the dedication and officers say several state officials are scheduled to participate.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1946

Famous last words: "Bet you a buck I can beat that train to the crossing!"

Pieces of candy have been so reduced in size that youngsters are complaining that all-day suckers do not last through until noon.

Explanation of a youth who embezzled $726,000 is that he wanted to open a cigar store—not a meat market, as you might have thought.

Many Problems Confront UN Assembly

WITH the United Nations general assembly meeting today at Flushing Meadows, New York, it is encouraging to note that at least one nationally known observer feels that much real progress has been made by the organization behind its tin curtain of bickering and debate.

Drew Pearson reports that much has been done to aid refugees, to improve world health, to assist orphaned children and to reconstruct war-devastated areas.

These accomplishments may have been temporarily lost sight of, but they will count heavily on the long record of world progress.

Meanwhile the excitement of international sparring and intrigue can be expected to go blatantly on, as the delegates convene today. From the American viewpoint one of the most ticklish problems will be that of mandates. Secretary of State Byrnes will be in a bad position to argue against them with the Russians ready to point out our occupation of Pacific islands. And the U. S., by now, should have learned its lesson about leaving strategic Pacific areas undefended. Britain, naturally, wants to hang on to Palestine and other empire-important areas. The Russians could make good use of the U. S. and British positions to further their own aims in eastern Europe and Asia.

The question of veto powers most certainly will come up. But insiders think the U. S. and Britain still believe the veto is a pretty good idea even though they accuse Russia of abusing the power. So nothing much may come of that point.

Finally, the delegates will try to pick a permanent home for the U. N. Here there's bound to be a scrap. Russia and some others would like to get U. N. back into Europe. Over here we are inclined to think that would be merely inviting the ghost of the dead League of Nations to haunt tomorrow's efforts to maintain the peace.

Yes, 'It Takes All Kinds of People'

'ONE ADVANTAGE gained by volunteer canvassers in the Community Fund campaign, as being conducted in Mansfield this week, is the opportunity thus given to become better acquainted with the many varieties of people who make up a community such as this—and with traits of "human nature," as it is called.

Recital of experiences by canvassers, as they go from house to house, soliciting contributions to the fund which supports the work of a number of essential community agencies, could be developed into a highly interesting book. The section of the city apparently makes no difference in revelation of the character of persons who are asked to contribute.

In some instances—fortunately a majority—the canvasser is pleasantly received at the door, invited to "come in", and a contribution cheerfully made. Occasionally, however, the door is opened a mere crack, a grumpy voice responds to the visitor's salutation, a tirade of criticism greets mention of the Community Fund, and abrupt refusal to make a contribution is followed by a slam of the door.

Mansfield's progress, and its desirability as a city in which to live, hinges largely on the high percentage of willing givers to such enterprises as the Community Fund and other activities designed for community betterment, and to the small percentage of residents who enjoy community privileges without sharing in the recognized obligations of a prosperous city to maintain various charitable, humanitarian and character-building agencies.

All of these things are taken into account in fixing a Community Fund budget—and that is the reason some give more than seems to be a fair proportion of the total needed. They know that there are some who CANNOT give and that there are also some who WILL NOT give.

The canvassers have the interesting experience of calling upon, and studying, the reactions of those who COULD give, but who refuse to make any contribution—which is quite educational, and also gives oportunity to develop qualities of courtesy and self restraint under difficult circumstances.

Wages and Production Are Linked

A CALIFORNIA oil company says the only way to raise wages is to raise production. With charts it shows that its employes who, with better vacation, hospital and pension plans worked 35 per cent less in hours than in 1925, received individually almost double wages, or 77 per cent of total income created. The stockholders got 12 per cent and 11 per cent was "plowed back into operations."

The gains in wages were possible, says the company, because investment in "tools" such as oil wells, refineries and equipment had been doubled in the period studied. Until now stockholders have had incentive to provide more tools, which meant higher production and consequent increase of wages. Today, the company warns, that incentive is being whittled away. Here is one side of the argument for "free enterprise."

To Watch for Aerial Culprits

THE STATE of Pennsylvania is pioneering in training its highway police to aid in detecting violations of air law. The Civil Aeronautics Administration has been carrying on training courses at Indiantown Gap, Pa., where more than 1,000 officers took the course, according to the Wall Street Journal.

While these policemen will not be allowed to investigate plane accidents, this being the province of the CAA itself, they will be useful in spotting and reporting infringements of air law such as low flying and dangerous stunt flying, and can take charge of wreckage after an accident as well as interview witnesses.

One weakness of this idea is the fact that the state police do not operate in municipalities, where many recent plane accidents have taken place.

It is revealed that Alaska, if admitted as the 49th state, would immediately supplant Texas as "the largest state"—which seems to be annoying Texans considerably.

Close friends are still trying to reconcile the separated Sinatras—but Frankie continues to be peevish, it appears.

UN Assembly In New York Is Like Debates In Continental Congress

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The American people are now beginning to realize that the road to peace after war is never easy. Beating our swords back into plowshares sometimes is more difficult than forging the swords of battle.

But one encouraging milestone on the road to peace begins in New York today when the smaller nations of the Allied world, who for months have had to sit and take it from the Big Four, now debate on an almost equal footing.

Many may have forgotten it, but this issue of free debate caused a bitter battle at the San Francisco conference. Mr. Molotov then wanted to stifle free debate. He proposed that the general assembly of the United Nations not even be permitted to discuss or criticize decisions of the big powers sitting on the security council.

Australian Foreign Minister Evatt, spokesman for the little powers, opposed. He went further and demanded that the general assembly under the recognized principles of democracy have the power to overrule the security council. He was rebuffed, not only by his own "mother diplomats" from London, but by the isolationist-grounded senators of the U. S. delegation.

In the end, the general assembly was given the power to debate, discuss, criticize, and recommend—but not to carry out. That is what it will do as it begins sessions today.

Note—Actually in the western world, where public opinion has become so important, this power of debate can be all-powerful. Mr. Molotov, of course, realized this when he fought so vehemently to restrict the assembly's power of debate at San Francisco.

Behind the iron curtain, public opinion still is tightly controlled. When it is decontrolled, then we need no longer worry about war between the USA and the USSR. Meanwhile, the sessions beginning in New York today are like the first struggling but healthy debates of the Continental congress and of the United States congress which grew therefrom. They won't achieve much at the moment, but they should pave the way to great and hopeful things.

Sought Nazi Tie.

For years, speculation has continued as to whether Father Coughlin's attempts to stir up racial and religious strife among Americans was inspired by Nazi Germany. The testimony of Nazi officials arrested in Germany now appears to answer the question for once and all.

The answer is that the radio priest did seek cooperation from Hitler, but the Nazis figured he needed no help from them. The suppressed Rogge report on Nazi activities in the USA carries the following interesting references to Coughlin:

"Early in 1939, according to Richard Sallet (propaganda attache at the German embassy in Washington from 1935 to 1937 and subsequently an employe of the German foreign office), an agent of Charles E. Coughlin, named Leo T. Reardon, came to Berlin and wanted to see Von Ribbentrop and Hitler. Sallet's job was to entertain Reardon and talk to him about German problems. Reardon talked against President Roosevelt and against the Jews, and conveyed Coughlin's suggestion that Hitler personally make some sort of statement that the Nazis were supporters of the Christian religion.

"After spending a few days with Sallet, Reardon saw Ribbentrop. To Ribbentrop he repeated the things he had told Sallet. As for the statement that the Nazis were supporters of Christianity, Ribbentrop replied evasively that they would do the best they could on it. At the close of the interview, Ribbentrop said: 'Give my regards to Father Coughlin. I have a high regard for him.'

"Later in the year, Coughlin followed up on the suggestion he had made through Reardon. He wrote a letter to the German honorary consul in Detroit, Heiler, in which he repeated his suggestion, and Heiler took the letter to Berlin. A copy of Coughlin's letter is in the files of the German foreign office, together with a memorandum under date of August 11, 1939, signed by one Woerman, head of the political department of the German foreign office. Woermann's memorandum reads as follows:

'The German honorary consul in Detroit, Mr. Heiler, who was introduced to me by the German consul in Cleveland, handed me the enclosed copy of a letter directed to him by the well-known Father Coughlin. He showed me the original letter bearing the signature of Coughlin. The aim of the leter is to support Coughlin in his fight against Roosevelt and the Jews by improving the position of the church in Germany to a certain extent. As is known to you, Father Coughlin sent his manager, Leo T. Reardon, to Germany, the matter about which Mr. Sallet is informed in detail. Mr. Heiler asked whether it would be possible to give him some reassuring information for Coughlin when he returns to the United States.

'He also pointed out the necessity to bring out in the United States the German point of view.

'Mr. Heiler will call on me before him return to the United States. I told him that it probably would be difficult to formulate an official German statement for Coughlin'."

Continuing, the Rogge report states:

"Paul K. Schmidt told us: 'Father Coughlin was extraordinarily frequently discussed at the foreign office. His activities in the United States were frequent topics for conferences among the department chiefs of the foreign office. The matter was assigned to Six's department'."

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, Oct. 23, 1926.

Explosion of gas wrecked Weingartner flats, 7-9 East Fifth street, and Mrs. A. F. VanRiper, a roomer, was badly burned.

Employes of Ohio Brass company held Halloween party in assembly room of service building, with 300 present.

Eight-year-old Rosylan Hattery, East Mansfield, was injured when struck by automobile.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Carver, 181 Hedges street.

Mrs. Robert McGinty was injured by fall down stairway at her home, 308 Bowman street.

Girl Reserves held Halloween party in YWCA gymnasium, with games in charge of Mrs. Coleman Todd. Miss Helen Bein and Miss Marian McGinley.

Miss Kitty Evelyn Lime and Byron H. Berkeley were married by Rev. Charles F. Sheriff in First Lutheran church.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

A woman suffrage demonstration was held in New York City on October 23, 1915. The demonstration was one of protest, and the number of paraders has been set at 25,000.

Dave Boone Says:

I SEE where a businessman says that the trouble with America today is that it is having "profitless prosperity." Well, that seems to be the goal for perfect happiness and all-around satisfaction, doesn't it?

* * *

Good times with everybody having a bad time! Plenty of money with the poorhouse just ahead! Big returns with nothing left for an emergency! A record business every week with the boss and the help in the same hole!

* * *

That's what a lot of folks seem to be plugging for. You find only a few able to raise their voices for such old-time things as prosperity with a profit, money in the bank, a surplus for the pinches and a little left after a big week's business.

I never knew a time in this country when the people seemed to be having so much unhappy happiness. Maybe that is what we're driving at as the ideal economic system.

Science Scores Again.

A group of Chicago scientists announce discovery of a new hormone which, they say, apparently cures peptic ulcers permanently. Ten years of experiments on animals and humans convince them that this painful, prolonged and sometimes fatal ailment finally has been conquered. Hundreds of thousands of victims of peptic ulcers will benefit when the new drug goes into general usage.

The substance, extracted from hogs, and known as enterogastrone, is the discovery of medical men connectd with Illinois and Northwestern universities. The last five years of their work has been with human beings, and since that period of time is deemed sufficient to prove or disprove medical theories of treatment, they are satisfied that they have found a cure that has eluded scientists until now.—Ohio State Journal.

LEGION HITS— ... ...

Legion Hits Failure of Vet Housing Program.

WASHINGTON—Principals in the fight over the fate of housing and rent controls—fast developing into the toughest of all postwar domestic conflicts—suddenly are letting capital lobbying chores lag this week in order to passionately court the American Legion and its seven-man investigating committee.

Belatedly, the boys on both sides admittedly learned that the Legion, which has not yet stated its stand on the issue, may well provide the balance of power to keep or kill the controls.

Few of them relaized it until Saturday night or Sunday morning . . .

Previously, they had been intensifying the fight along routine lines, long-since prescribed for such battles. Presidential advisers had told this correspondent that, despite the growing pressure, the administration would not revoke the controls without making even more of a last-ditch stand than it did over the meat situation.

Simultaneously, the National Housing Administration strove to strengthen its position by predicting a sizable pickup in the building of veterans' homes during the next two months.

But meat controls scarcely had been lifted when the word went out among the groups opposing continuation of construction and rent controls to take advantage of the precedent and push the fight.

Both sides were collecting new recruits and publishing unvarnished verbal blasts in all four dailies here in Washington and in hundreds of others across the country.

National real estate and building representatives who have spearheaded the drive to decontrol gained public support from national banking, chamber of commerce, contracting, building and loan and insurance groups whose spokesmen stated they hoped to eliminate construction controls and rent ceilings.

At the same time, the CIO and several affiliated labor organizations, as well as some veterans' groups, came to the public aid of the administration attempt to maintain at least temporary controls.

Both sides admitted it was going to be an even tougher fight than the meat scrap. For one thing, there was no hope of such a dramatic climax to the crisis as the butcher shop famine had provided. For another, its issues were much more involved and confused.

And finally, it was more pertinently a veteran's problem than any yet faced—for the homecoming but homeless veteran has suffered worst from the housing shortage.

Yet they fought in ancient fashion. Said the National Association of Home Builders:

"The record is as plain on building materials as on meat. OPA has consistently held back production of materials needed for veterans' houses, has driven standard low-cost items from the market, created a black market and produced many artificial costs . . ."

Said the CIO News:

"Veterans and labor must now support, all the more, continued tight control over prices and allocations of building materials to keep up the record-breaking start of the veterans housing program. Otherwise, a further rise in building costs this winter will shut additional millions of veterans and their families out in the cold . . ."

But neither side paid a great deal of attention to the Legion, partially because it had pursued a tentative middle-of-the-road course at its San Francisco convention.

But Saturday night in Pittsburgh, new Legion Commander Paul Griffith called on the 14 million veterans of World War II to launch an attack on the "battlefield of special interests" which have turned the veterans' housing program into an "incredible national failure."

He charged that the real bottleneck of the housing problem has been the "greed" of many profit-hungry Americans, warned that the Legion committee is combing the country "to find the true facts," and said they would be revealed in Washington the first week in November.

Cagily, the new commander did not identify the "special interests" or the "greedy Americans" of whom he spoke. His general terms as yet could fit either side.

Nor did he mention that the veteran-minded public (counting three persons to a veterans' family) totals more than half our population!

But all those points suddenly became clear to the combatants here in Washington during the weekend. So did the fact that much of that veteran-minded public is going to take its cue from the report of the Legion's investigating committee.

The fate of housing and rent controls may well hinge on that report.

Missouri Folks "Understand" Harry Truman.

KANSAS CITY—Here you get the feel and flavor and style of the man who is president of the United States.

Here where the west and east begin to merge, but never quite mix. Here where the hard, calloused hand of the farm still feels a bit awkward as it claps the soft hand of the city.

Here where "Dixie" and "John Brown's Body" are equally familiar, for that issue once met here, too.

It's a hybrid sort of place—and friendly. Harry Truman is a part of all of it. So in Washington he reflects it, gathering about him for advisers easy-going men of the middle west and the south, because he feels comfortable among them.

Like so many people out here, he has no kinship with the intellectual type that Franklin D. Roosevelt liked as intimates.

Harry Truman probably has more heart and sympathy for the ordinary folks out this way, the working people, than did Mr. Roosevelt, who was the aloof political philosopher of the country house, with a feeling for people in the mass, and often quite calculating in his adept handling of them. But Harry Truman does not know exactly how to stand up for them.

His advisers and friends are mostly middle-class men looking ambitiously away from all such feeling, leaving it behind as they turn to the downtown club and the country club. They look to the next higher stratum where the bigger financial men, still the rulers of our society, sit elegantly with their easy manner.

Here, on a day that started out with a drizzle but turned out fine, there was displayed the atmosphere that Harry Truman so well knows and likes. It was the beginning of the American Royal Live Stock and Horse Show—the "Royal" famous in these parts and in all America, where they bring their cattle and their pigs and blooded horses to be tagged with fancy ribbons.

They came crowding into Kansas City, the folks of the prairies and small towns, with their children and uncles and maiden aunts, and their hired hands. They wandered about the streets and into the lunchrooms, holding back, hesitantly and politely, before climbing on the counter stools, not pushing and shoving like city people.

Harry Truman has seen and has been a part of all this.

There was, in the morning, the grand parade that proceeded triumphantly down three parallel streets at the same time, so that the whole city seemed to be full of festival.

Afterward, all afternoon, the people roamed the streets, rambling with no fixed purpose. And, at night, some of them went to the grand opening ball but mostly that was a Kansas City affair, a society event, resplendent with low cut gown and white tie.

The Kansas City Star, in its manner, had a formal headline over the account of the parade "Pomp in March" (it was really such a jolly occasion). Harry Truman would understand that. He would appreciate also the headline over the story of the stock show opening "Gay Royal Debut," and the beginning "the ringing call of a hunting horn heralded each event this afternoon.

These people understand Harry Truman. They like him. They are disappointed at the way things have turned out for him in Washington. He was getting along so well for quite a time. But they can understand how that happened. He's one of them. And being president is a hard job, especially when thrown into it the way he was. They feel sorry for him. There is no meanness or bitterness in any of it—not like some people had for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Some of the Reasons for Slow Progress.

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — The more you travel through the country, coming up against the shortages, the overcrowding, the soaring prices, the more clearly you are made to see what the basic American dilemma is. It comes through in spite of all the noisy political shouting, the babel of voices.

If we are to have full employment, or anything approaching it, then we must use the new productive capacity that was created during the war. Our economy must expand in every direction.

Above all, there must be more goods and services to be bought with the wages of 60,000,000 workers.

This means more houses, more recreation centers, more shops, more restaurants, more trains and airplanes, more hotels. It means greater productivity on the farm.

Yet in the face of the need for this expansion, we seem to be overcome with a kind of paralysis. It is a paralysis of mind, perhaps even more than the physical paralysis of delays and obstructions, which keeps us from the goal of essential expansion.

We are thinking still in terms of the economy of 1939 and 1940. We have not begun to accept the kind of expansion which calls for boldness and imagination; for breaking down the physical barriers of the constricted world we knew before the war.

All the potentialities are there. It is a promised land just over the horizon. Yet we stand, like timid children, chained to the past and fearful of the future.

In every city, the traveler encounters a harsh, unpleasant fact that sums up our dilemma. That is the fearful congestion of traffic, which seems at times to threaten a breakdown. The narrow streets of another age are clogged with the machines of the present. It is a striking and dramatic symbol of our plight.

Everyone complains about it. Well, it's bad enough now, they say, but what will it be like when all the new cars get on the streets? It is almost as though we dreaded the expansion that must come if we are to avoid the eventual catastrophe of a glut of goods that cannot be sold.

In almost every city, the need is for elevated highways, for high-speed boulevards, for a drastic redistribution of the flow of traffic. You hear of plans for such essential changes and even of funds set aside during the war to meet the costs. But there are few signs that the work is about to begin or even that it can be done.

Here, of course, the tragic fact of our price inflation is at work. A fund set aside for an essential improvement—for street widening and reconstruction, for a badly needed university building, for a new sanitarium — is now inadequate. It will meet only half the cost.

The mounting spiral of prices threatens to close the avenues that lead to an expanded economy. That is the real meaning of the scarcities and the bidding up of prices in the scramble for what there is to buy.

There are signs that here on the Pacific slope is a greater understanding of the need to cut through the narrow restrictions preventing the expansion so vital if our economy is to flourish.

Perhaps because they have fewer of the inhibitions of the settled, older sections of America, they are more nearly prepared to accept the world of tomorrow.

Farmer's Diary: "Every Shock Is Tied."

AT DUSK I went down the highway to an acre field of corn, shocked but still untied. Beneath one arm I had a ball of twine and in my hand an old butcher knife to cut the string.

Dampness had already gathered on everything outdoors. The trees along the hedge to the west were quiet and myriads of wee droplets clung in a gray film over the leaves. The fodder of each corn shock was damp without, but the inner blades rattled and broke with a brash noisy crackle.

I tied a loop in the loose end, and with it held securely in one hand, I reached my arms about the upper portion of the shock until my hands were linked on the opposite side and I could pull hard and make the circle smaller. Quickly I passed the twine around and tied it tight, slicing off the end.

There was a pleasure in coming so naturally against those giant shocks of corn . . . a rugged wholesome fragrance that filled my nostrils and each well built shock claimed a certain individuality.

I did not hurry, and at the end, when all but two were done, I stood off some distance to observe the differences in appearance my work had made. Concluding that I had brought more dignity, self-sufficiency and permanence into the field, I was impressed by the enjoyableness of my labor.

As I lingered, I heard rapid movement of boyish feet coming down the stony road from the distant barn. "I came to help—I thought you'd be down here," panted the second boy. He took one end of the string and together we encircled the two last shocks—which were larger than any of the others.

We finished. The boy looked into a hollow near the base and said, "Wouldn't that be a nice place to sleep tonight? It would seem so nice and risky, near the woods—there'd be coons and 'possums and foxes awful close, and rabbits would play just outside. Crickets and grasshoppers and field mice would play about the bed I'd make—but I wouldn't care." His chatter murmured on, as we slowly walked home through the dark.

A screech owl quavered, high on the slope. Dry leaves rustled briskly in the ditch ahead . . . we could not see the passer, but a mother quail called out in pleading notes that some prowler had disturbed her sleeping brood. The corn smell clung heavy in the quiet air.
